Property description

Galloway & Ayrshire Properties offers an opportunity to purchase a traditional, granite-built Galloway cottage, constructed in 1899, looking over the stunning shores of Wigtown Bay. Having benefitted from recent renovations and having been extended, this property offers spacious accommodation over two levels. There are many attractive and traditional features to appreciate within this splendid home including feature stone fireplace with open fire. Traditional hand-crafted pine staircase allowing access to upper-level accommodation as well as traditional cornice plasterwork throughout. Ample off-road parking and generous garden grounds with border hedging allowing privacy. Benefitting from a convenient location just off the A75, viewings for this property, are to be thoroughly recommended.

As well as benefitting from recent renovations and having been extended, this property offers spacious accommodation over two levels. This property currently benefits from a spacious lounge to the front of the property as well as a separate dining room. A generous sized modern dining kitchen to the rear with integrated appliances and oak style worktops. There are also three double bedrooms as well as a ground floor shower room and upper-level bathroom as well as a separate study with the potential to be a ground floor bedroom. Of traditional construction under a slate roof, this property is fully double glazed with mains gas fired central heating.

The surrounding area has also been noted for its sites of historical interest. The pretty coastal villages of the Isle of Whithorn and Garlieston are within easy reach and where there are further facilities for boating and sea fishing. The well-known Book Town of Wigtown is only 15 miles distant and a wider range of facilities, including larger supermarkets and secondary schools, can be found in the market town of Newton Stewart (10 miles) and Stranraer (34 miles).
